

March 20, 2015

Re: Vita McHale

Dear Sir or Madam,

I knew Vita McHale when she was employed as a full-time as a broadcast journalist for the local BRC Cable 11 cable news affiliate. For more than two years she managed the on-air reporting of the content and delivery of our police agency news and press releases. In addition, Vita served as an anchor on many occasions for the evening and late night news broadcasts. During this period I had almost daily contact with Vita and her assigned crew.

Vita is an intelligent and motivated individual. She is more than capable of managing a small group of people. Peers in my field would often tell me that Vita was both engaging and professional. She writes credible content that accurately reflects released agency press content in her accurate, thorough and concise reporting of events.

I have personally observed Vita in a broad range of professional, social, and business circumstances. I am certain that you will find Vita to have a "can do" attitude while being a team player in a team environment. At the same time Vita has the rare ability be very capable, professional, responsible, and able to meet the deadlines demanded by working within an unrestricted operational arena.

It is without reservation that I would offer you the highest recommendation of Vita McHale for employment consideration by your organization. I am certain she will become a valuable asset to further your organizational objectives in a wide array of situations and media applications.

If you would like additional information about Vita, you can telephone me at (717) 278-5297.

-Chief David Steffen